

A Pseudo-Gibbs Sampler (cont)

- We assumed that next haplotype differs by M mutations from a randomly-chosen existing haplotype, where M has a geometric distribution.
- Motivated by population genetics theory (the Ewens sampling formula) we choose

$$\Pr(M=0) = n/(n+\theta)$$

- Does not, in general, correspond to a prior.